Signs Confession In $200,000 Swindle Plot 12 Seriously Hurt as Train Hits Bus

Pearman Murder Case Was Outgrowth of Other Frauds

BENTONVILLE, April 11.—(AP)—Sheriff Edgar Fields announced that Dr. A. J. Bass, Columbia, Mo., at 12:30 p. m. had signed a statement confessing to the participation in a plot to collect $200,000 insurance on the life of William Robert Pearman, of Columbia, Mo., who was found slain near here two weeks ago.

The sheriff quoted Bass as saying he at one time had hired a St. Louis gangster to kill a man named Dorsey, of Indianapolis, Ind., in a $100,000 insurance swindle plot. The Indiana proposition collapsed. Dr. Bass was quoted by sheriff Fields as saying, only because one gunman that he had hired double-crossed Bass, and the other reason was that Dorsey canceled the insurance policy before another gunman could be hired to execute the contract with Bass.

Bass, a 55-year-old wealthy retired dentist is being held in jail at Bentonville on a charge of first degree murder and accessory before and after the fact to murder in connection with Pearman's death. In the signed confession, Bass is quoted by the sheriff as saying that prior to the Indiana case, he participated in a $25,000 insurance swindle fraud at Moline, Ill. but only as a reference, and if he knows much about this conspiracy of the $250,000 case, he failed to divulge any details.

Dr. Bass did not implicate himself in the actual slaying of Pearman. He is quoted as saying that the St. Louis gunman who dealt in the Indiana case, proposed to him that a purchaser be found for Bass' land in Miller county, Arkansas, and that the purchaser be insured and in some way the insurance was to be collected. The Pearman plot was the outgrowth of the Indiana case after which Bass admitted that he was in constant fear of his life as the result to repeated threats of gunmen because the Indiana plot had not been carried out.

In the statement Dr. Bass is quoted as saying that he conceded the plot to kill Dorsey as the result of a loan of $112,000 that he and his wife made to Dorsey in 1928 as a security loan. Bass said that he was given the first mortgage on several hundred acres of land that Dorsey owned in Miller county, subsequently Bass is quoted as saying that he learned the land was not worth as much as it was represented to be. He also discovered that Dorsey had $100,000 worth of insurance. He said that he induced Dorsey to assign the policies to him as collateral.

In discussion of the loan in Columbia, Mo., a plan to kill Dorsey was decided upon in order that Bass could collect the insurance. The plan put Bass in touch with a man in St. Louis who had promised to furnish a man who would kill Dorsey for $2,000. Bass is quoted as saying that he only paid the man $1,000 to do the job after another conversation with the St. Louis man. After Dorsey had cancelled his insurance Bass considered the compromise and the payment was in full, but on the contrary threats continued on Bass' life, he is quoted as saying, and which caused him to come to the gunman's boss in St. Louis and asked that he be furnished a man to kill the land to which is located in Miller county Arkansas near Texarkana. This occurred Bass said, after the plot to kill Dorsey had fallen through.

The gunman became interested in the deal, and proposed a purchaser be found to buy the land, his life be insured for a large sum and in some way the insurance was to be collected. A short time afterwards Bass saw Pearman a man he had known for many years, and casually mentioned the incident to purchase the land in Arkansas. In the meanwhile Bass was told that William Foltz, also of Missouri, had been missing from his home for the past seven years.

Later, Pearman, an automobile mechanic, of Columbia, Mo., questioned Bass about the land deal and agreed to pose as William Foltz and take out $200,000 worth of insurance. Bass admitted, the statement said, that he paid the first annual installment on the insurance which Pearman for some time had been disguised and masqueraded as William Foltz and who was found shot to death on an isolated spot near here.

After then going to Gravette and identified the body as that of William Foltz because he was threatened with death if he didn't, the statement said. The identification later exploded, and Bass was arrested. Mrs. Pearman and her two children, of Columbia, Mo., came to Gravette, and identified the body as that of their husband and father.

Mr. Press said that the mezzanine floor of the theatre has been thrown open to this trade purpose each morning and afternoon, up to the starting hour for the night show—which will take care of all shoppers' requirements.

Today's principal business at the Rotary luncheon was the announcement of names proposed for the 1930-31 administration of the local club. The nominating committee reported the following ticket, which will be voted on Friday, April 25:

Kansas City Suffers From Sultry Temperatures

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP)—Baking breezes, bred in Texas, blew like a furnace through the mid-west yesterday and today. People wearing winter flannel underwear were caught entirely unprepared for the sultry weather. Readings in 90's were numerous. Cedar Rapids Iowa, reported 94. St. Louis, Mo. 93 and Peoria, Ill. 92. Chicago reported 92 better than 94 degrees this afternoon. Kansas City, Omaha, Little Rock and Des Moines were the cities reported having temperatures 90 degrees or higher.

KANSAS CITY, April 11.—(AP)—A winter which established numerous all-time temperature marks for snow and cold which established numerous all-time temperature marks for snow and cold intensity, has been superseded throughout the southwest by a record smashing dry hot spring, which has resulted in sultry temperatures and causing much concern to crop damage.

The weather forecast predicted showers for this area, but have failed to materialize, although the weather forecast predicts possible precipitation for today, hope for relief is slight.

Routes are being extended through a bonus plan, and additional patrons are being secured, he said. Farmers in the Wallaceburg community have agreed to furnish the cheese plant at least 50 gallons of milk a day, starting Monday. Mr. Slaybaugh hopes to reach the guaranteed 10,000 pounds per day within the next few months.

Youths Working Day and Night to Attend Oklahoma University

DEQUEEN, April 11.—Doing 12 hour daily shifts in the oil field near Oklahoma City is enabling Andrew and Fletcher Pickens, two Sevier county boys to attend the University of Oklahoma, where they are studying petroleum engineering. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Pickens.

After completing high school, they expressed a wish to go to college, and decided to make their way through school by getting any kind of work that would enable them to attend.

Festival Support Urged on Kiwanis Good Will Tour

Audience of 100 Welcomes Visitors at Spring Hill

LOCAL MEN VISIT

Roy Anderson, John P. Cox, W. S. Atkins Are on Program

Citizens of Spring Hill extended a royal welcome to Hope Kiwanians who entertained Thursday night at the recently constructed Spring Hill consolidated school. More than 100 people of that section of Hempstead county attended the first of a series of good-will trips to the most important adjacent communities, which Hope Kiwanis club is undertaking.

Roy Anderson, invited guest and Hope banker who was raised near Spring Hill delivered an address on "Co-Operation." He pointed out the California co-operative farm organizations, who brand their products, and take every precaution to make sure that customers are well pleased with every purchase of their product, through proper grading and good quality. He suggested that farmers who were influenced to market green-green watermelons through a high price, would damage the rapidly spreading reputation for Hempstead county watermelons in the important markets. He asked that the farmers share the cost of the 1930 Watermelon Festival, since they have benefited through the more attractive prices Hope melons have been obtaining. He paid tribute to the success and importance of the Watermelon Festivals.

Cox Talks on Markets

John P. Cox, former president of the Kiwanis club, delivered a splendid address calling attention to the fact that Hope depends upon Spring Hill and the other communities in the trade territory, just as they in turn depend upon Hope for their best market for products of the farm and for the goods that they need.

W. S. Atkins delivered a highly appreciated speech asking that the people of Spring Hill work with Hope, and suggesting that the people of Hope are always willing to render any service and assistance to the people of Hope are always willing to render any service and assistance to the people of that community. He told how one of his first public speeches, made 20 years ago, was delivered in Spring Hill, asking the people of that community for their votes in his race for county clerk. He said he lost the race but made some valuable life-long friends in Spring Hill. He told how the relative conditions of farming had not improved along with manufacturing and other lines of endeavor, but that congress wanted to render assistance to break down obstacles.

He indicated, however, that little could be done except when farmers could hold their products for a fair price rather than dump them on the market for whatever they can get. He told how the farmers have to pay the price asked for the commodities they purchase. If those prices are too high, loss of patronage forces them to be lowered. When farmers have control of their marketing on a similar basis the present condition will be altered, and this condition can apparently be changed only through co-operation of the farmers to win their objectives, Mr. Atkins declared.

Smith Speaks

Lynn Smith, county agent, and invited guest of the club, made a short talk which was highly appreciated. All of the speakers expressed appreciation of the handsome and complete school structure which provides modern schooling facilities for five formers school districts, and which has already been outgrown, according to report.

Entertainment was also furnished by the Washington quartet, who rendered several songs. This quartet is composed of Willis Harris, Frank May, Paul Lee and Lat Moses.

Oscar Brent, president of the Spring Hill school board expressed his appreciation for the program rendered by the Kiwanis club, and E. C. Hower, principal also made a short talk of appreciation.

T. A. Turner, who was born and raised in Spring Hill, was an invited guest of the club, at the meeting.

Field Meeting to be Held Here

O. L. McMurray and K. B. Roy Coming Here for Meet

Tomorrow afternoon, 2 o'clock, at the pecan orchard of R. T. White situated on the Centerville-Rosston highway two miles from Hope will be held a field meeting to study the value of hairy vetch as a soil building and green manure crop according to County Agent Lynn Smith.

Every farmer and business man should attend this meeting and observe a 16-acre field of hairy vetch which was sown at the proper time of the year, and on ground which is properly inoculated. This crop is worth many dollars as a fertilizer since it not only puts an abundant supply of nitrogen into the soil, but also adds humus.

O. L. McMurray, district agent for Southwest Arkansas, and K. B. Roy, agricultural editor for the Extension Service will be at the meeting. A method of calculating the amount of nitrogen placed in the soil by such a crop will be shown. An attempt will also be made to show how much nitrate of soda such a crop is worth.

Atlanta Citizens Are Recovering

Ten Residents Suffer After Drinking "Jake"

TEXARKANA, April 11.—At least 10 residents of Atlanta, Texas, 23 miles south of here, are recovering from paralysis in various stages, caused by drinking "jamaica ginger," a "jake," it was learned Thursday night as three of the victims are in hospitals two in Hot Springs and he third in a war veterans hospital in Little Rock. Some of the others are reported to be still confined to their beds.

Several of those affected are prominent citizens of the East Texas town. One is the manager of a dry goods store, one is employed at a bank and another is connected with a supply company.

A group of five was stricken at one time after a party said to have been staged in the city. (They were treated by Atlanta physicians and three of them later were sent to the hospitals in Arkansas.)

The cases have been reported during the past three weeks, doctors estimating that between eight and 12 have received treatment.

One of those affected has recovered sufficiently to return to his business but is still suffering from the paralysis in one arm and leg.

The Jamaica ginger worked on all the users in practically the same way. Some were more serious than others, however. Several were confined to their beds, unable to move arms or legs.

Details of the epidemic of "jake" paralysis in Atlanta have been carefully withheld due to the prominence of some of the men who suffer with it. Relatives of one man said to have the malady insisted that he was suffering from influenza.

The outbreak of the strange malady at Atlanta is the first such reported in this section of the country although it has been prevalent for the past month in other districts.

Menu For the Family

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

MODERN inventions have made an exact science of baking and there is little reason for failure when a delicate custard or a pan of biscuits is to be baked.

Every stove manufacturer realizes the importance of dependable oven structure and builds his range on scientific principles.

It is impossible to maintain consistent results in baking without the use of an oven thermometer of some sort. Most modern ovens have an oven regulator which automatically controls the flow of gas, oil or electricity.

A knowledge of the heat requirements demanded in the cooking of each type of food product is essential.

Bread Presents Problems
Perhaps bread offers the most difficult problem for many women. Bread is baked to check the growth of the yeast plant, to cook the starch in the grain and to diffuse the alcohol formed by the fermentation. To accomplish all this the baking must be very thorough. Intense heat is needed to check effectively the growth at the yeast plant, and a long period of oven heat is required to cook thoroughly the starch and overcome fermentation. Consequently the "hot" oven of 400 degrees F. is advised for the first ten minutes. Then a gradual reduction of heat until the thermometer registers 300 degrees, for the remaining baking period. If the oven is too hot or over 400 degrees, a crust is formed before the heat can reach the center of the loaf and insufficient baking is the result.

Other yeast-risen products such as rolls and buns require a hot oven, and since they are small a temperature of 400 degrees may

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by William Braucher

Uncle Robbie Smiles
HARRY HERMAN is in the camp at the Robins again, and Uncle Robbie Robinson, the ever-cheerful, sits on the bench and watches his all team and smiles and smiles and smiles.
The good, gray, round, square of his face looks out over the field where the boys are throwing baseballs at the boys and smiles again.
Down at shortstop is Glenn Wright, throwing like a fool, and over on first base Del Blissette reaches down into the dirt and picks up a bad bounce—and what is there left for Uncle Robbie to do but smile again?

It's a Tough Nine
SOME baseball people who play the game with the Dodgers this year are going to be obliged to play the game as it should be played if they want to beat the Dodgers. That outfield of Bessler, Frederick, Hoffman and Hendrick is just another outfield, defensively, but at the plate every man of them bats over .300. These figures are interesting: Herman, .331; Hendrick, .354; Frederick, .323; Bessler, .301.
There is punch in the infield, too, and reserves. Glenn Wright and Jack Flowers form a wonderful combination around second base. There are Finn and Slade, the coast infielders in reserve.

What One Pitcher Means
Phil Dazz has a good year; Uncle Robbie will have a pretty fair one, too. One pitcher means a lot to a team like the Robins. For that matter, where would the Indians be without Felt's 22 victories; and where would Detroit wind up without "Big Boy" Daz's 22 victories? Wilbert Daz, who has pitched for the Robins and Ray Moss, Ray came to life last year and won 11 while losing six for the Robins, and another year like that won't hurt anybody.
Every year or so, Uncle Robbie turns up with a pitcher or two that makes everybody sit up and take notice. The former catcher of the Orioles took on Dazzy Vance after all the other big league teams had turned him down. The year before Robbie got him, Daz had been traded from Memphis to New Orleans for a catcher named Dowie, who soon drifted out of baseball. Robbie took Rube Marquard after people began calling the long southpaw a lemon and taught Rube

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
MICHIGAN had an eleven in 1905 that was hard to beat. The late Walter Eckersall was playing for Chicago then. . . . It was a honor by Danny Clark that finally lost the game for Michigan. . . . Eckersall kicked to Clark behind his own goal line. . . . All Clark had to do was touch the ball to the ground, and it would have been taken out to the 25-yard line. . . . But Clark thought he saw his way clear and started to run with it. . . . Chicago stopped him before he had crossed his own goal line, winning the game, 2 to 0. . . . Clark left school and headed for the White Sox. . . . Eddie Brannick has served for 25 years as traveling secretary of the Giants. . . . He never lost his baggage. . . . Often he has to make pretty quick train connections for the team, sometimes having the players change from uniforms into street clothes, with no more protection than a taxicab. . . . Says he has less trouble with rounding up the rookies than the regulars.

a few of the tricks that made him a star.
One of Robbie's pitching pupils was Monsieur Richard Le Marquis, of whom you may have heard under the name of Rube Waddell. So keep an eye to Uncle Robbie, for he'll be coming up either this year or next with some pitcher you may remember as having been cast away by several of the other big league clubs.
Watch the Scores
SOME of the names on Robbie's roster of pitchers now may mean not a thing to you. There are Luther Roy, secured in a trade with Philadelphia; Jim Richardson and John Krider, from Macon; Clarence Blithen, brought in from Atlanta last year; Elmer the Great Paulkner, from Buffalo; Kent Greenfield, bought from Boston; Austin Moore, bought from Macon last year; Ray Phelps from Jacksonville. But keep track of the Brooklyn box scores. One of these days you will observe where one of these young men has become a big league pitcher.

FOOD SEEMED TO DISAGREE
Gas Formed, Head Hurt, and Woman Had To Hold To Things When She Walked.
Huffman, Texas.—"Two years ago I began suffering with spells of indigestion," says Mrs. Marshall Smith, of this place. "It seemed like everything I ate disagreed with me. I had gas on the stomach, and often my head would hurt so bad I had to lie down. Everything would get black before my eyes, and I would be so dizzy when I would get upon my feet that I had to hold on to things, to walk around the room. My food soured on my stomach, and I was constipated. I had often read about Black-Draught, and my mother told me it was a good medicine to take, and so I began a course of it. It was not long until I was feeling better. I took a pinch after meals, and I soon found I was suffering much less. It relieved constipation, and I was not any longer troubled with indigestion. We try to keep it in the house, and I use Black-Draught now. Whenever I feel a sick headache coming on, it is a fine medicine, and I can recommend it to others." Get a package today, 25¢.

University Star Will Enter Movies

Wear Schoonover to Appear in Football Picture

FAYETTEVILLE, April 11.—After having resisted the enticements of campus fraternities and co-eds for four years, Wear Schoonover, University of Arkansas football and basketball star, has fallen for the lure of the movies.
The big Razorback all-American will leave Sunday night for Hollywood to appear in a football picture to be produced by Warner Brothers studio. It is planned to have all the all-American men appear in the picture. Filming of the picture will begin April 17 and will take four weeks.
Schoonover, who is an honor student in the college of arts and sciences, has been granted a leave of absence by the University senate. His California trip will not interfere with his graduation in June. He is president of the senior class.
The campus is all agog over the athlete's film appearance but Schoonover himself refuses to get excited. However, he admits that appearing before the camera may be just a little more difficult than performing before thousands in football.
"I'll be back here May 17," said Schoonover, "because I want that A. B. degree and want it bad."

Picking half a dozen stars out of the galaxy of luminaries in the Philadelphia Athletic's camp is no easy task. But anyway, here are half a dozen of the boys who are out to help Connie Mack cop another world title.

PHILADELPHIA, April 9.—(AP)—When the hatless Connie Mack came dashing around under the stands after the A's great final-inning victory in the 1929 world's series, he seemed to be eager to escape the howling throngs.
It now appears that his haste was informed by a desire to hustle back and begin work on the 1930 campaign. None of the American league clubs is openly conceding the 1930 pennant to the world's champions but all of them, except the Yankees perhaps, are clearing the track for the Mackian machine and are hoping that they won't be smacked too far down the training season.

The forces that brought the team the highest fielding honors in the league still are intact and are reinforced by such sterling rookies as McNair, Keesey and Williams.
With Simmons, Foxx, Cochrane, Bing Miller, Dykes and Haas back swinging the willow, the Mack's have all the punch they had in 1929 when they were second in league batting. So, since none of the other seven clubs has shown more than a improvement, those destructives cannot be denied the pole position.

American Girl Escapes Cannibals

Like a thrilling chapter from a hair-raising adventure book is the latest exploit of the Viscountess de Sibour, American girl, who was forced to land with her husband in their tiny Moth airplane in the midst of a cannibal tribe in Africa, but succeeded in starting the island before being captured. The viscountess, daughter of J. F. McElroy, a London merchant, and the viscount, a former British soldier, were flying over the island of Madagascar when the accident occurred. The couple gained fame a year ago when they circled the globe in their tiny plane, shown below.

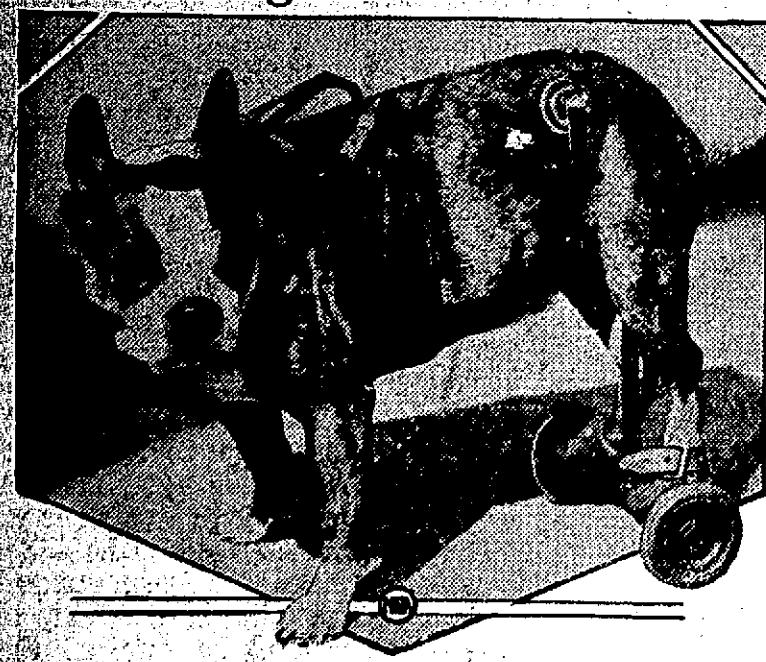

Census of Moonshine Islands Likely to be Rather Sketchy

MARTIN, Tenn., April 11.—(AP)—Census enumerators in Tipton county know that strange lights which flicker on the little island in the Mississippi River near here may be run by moonshiners. Signals will be placed to tell interested persons what they believe is a new way to commit suicide by going to the islands and try to count them for Uncle Sam.

No Volunteers

He estimates that there are 1,000 persons on the little islands off Tipton county. He said he had no official statement to make as to why the men would not visit the islands, but said unofficially that "most every-

Invalid Dog Exercises on Wheels

NEA Kansas City Bureau

When Lady Lou, crippled Kansas City dog, wants to take her daily exercise, a little thing like a fractured spine and paralyzed hind legs can't stop her. At least, not when Mrs. F. H. Nunnink, her kind mistress, provides this unique device of straps and braces mounted on rubber-tired wheels. Propelled by her forelegs, Lady Lou makes good time on the sidewalk. The dog was permanently injured when struck by an auto.

Oberammergau Villagers Prepare for Passion Play

one knows why." The islands, most of them formed by the Mississippi when it changed its course, extend south past Memphis. They are known as "moonshiners' paradises." Undergrowth on the islands is thick and lookouts good. It would be almost impossible for anyone to approach the islands without being seen. Federal prohibition officers often have raided stills on the islands, but arrests were few because of signals from moonshiners' lookouts.

Bitter Wars Staged

The islands often have figured in some of the bitter rum wars fought in the valley.

Federal officers often have been fired on when they approached islands off Tipton and Shelby counties. Federal officers at Memphis know the islands as "bad spots."

Frequently bodies of suspicious men have been found in the river near the islands and officers assumed they were victims of the moonshiners and rum runners' wars.

The latest outbreak of the war between moonshiners and federal agents resulted in destruction of two large river rum raiders in the Memphis harbor, almost in the shadows of the federal building. Rum runners or moonshiners, who federal authorities said, had some connection with whiskey making activities on the islands, slunk alongside the raiders at midnight and threw dynamite aboard.

Completes High School in Year

Ambitious Youth Will Enter University After Preparation

MANAWA, Wis., April 11.—When Joseph McCarthy, 21, graduates from high school here in June he will have performed the unusual feat of being freshman, sophomore, junior and senior all in one year.

Although Joseph entered the school only last fall as a freshman, after graduation from a rural school six years ago, he will enter college next fall with all the credits of a student who has spent four years covering the high school work.

Joseph spent the six years following his graduation from grammar school working to earn enough money to go to college. "When I saw the difference between the freshmen and myself I decided to get it over quickly," he said.

At first the principal of the high school refused to let him take six subjects the first semester, feeling that the boy could not carry them successfully. But by studying until nearly midnight every night he managed to pass them all satisfactorily and now he has to accumulate only 13 credits in the remaining semester.

The faculty members of the school have become so interested in the ambitious youth that they have readily devoted part of their time to his needs outside of class hours in order to help him.

In the fall he will entertain either Marquette University or the University of Wisconsin to study electrical engineering.

Movie Playing is Fatal to Youngster

SEATTLE, April 11.—Grief-stricken parents Thursday mourned the death of their 13-year-old son—Jack Morgan—who hanged himself in the basement of his home while playing at movie acting.

He climbed on a high bench wrapped a baby blanket about his neck and adjusted a noose around the blanket.

He jumped—just as he had seen an actor do in a movie scene. But the blanket slipped and the cord gripped his neck tightly. He may have cried but his parents did not hear, for they were tuned in on a lively dance number on their radio upstairs.

The work, which will require about 60 days, includes the removal of the entire second story and the renovating of the first floor. This will be made modern in every respect, of wood construction, in old English design, Mr. Weaver announced.

Fortune Grows, Relatives Too

Strange Case to Cause Many Brows to Show Wrinkles

WINSOR, Ontario, April 11.—The strange provision in a will left by an eccentric millionaire who died a century ago has caused more than 1000 residents of Western Ontario to go about their business considerably perturbed these last few weeks.

About 100 years ago, according to a recent announcement from New York, William Buchanan, financier, died leaving a large fortune which he would should not be divided until 90 years after his death. During this period the Buchanan wealth has increased tremendously until now, although its exact value is unknown, it is estimated at not less than $850,000,000.

But while gold accumulated so did Buchanan heirs until at present it is believed there are about 1000 of them in this region.

The time for division of the estate is at hand and a meeting of all the heirs has been planned to take place in New York, when the will shall be read and the fortune distributed.

A considerable portion of the Buchanan property is reported to be in the heart of Manhattan's business district.

Meanwhile, the heirs hold their breath and dream.

Hog Raising Gauged by Farm Corn Yield

RALEIGH, N. C. April 11.—(AP)—Unless a man's farm will produce 30 bushels of corn per acre he should not attempt to raise hogs.

Thus reasons W. W. Shay, swine specialist of North Carolina state college, who says production of hogs should be determined by production of corn on the individual farm. He suggests a ratio of one brood sow for each 150 bushels of corn.

Shay sees greater possibilities for profit in hogs than in either cotton or tobacco for the Tar Heel farmers, provided they enter into swine raising in a scientific manner.
